

TRACKER OFF-ROAD EXPERIENCE

The Bighorn mountains of north central Wyoming is one of the most “off the map” places to go for an off-roading adventure. With that said, the exclusiveness of this Experience and the ability to get away from the world to such an amazing place made the Tracker Off-Road Experience a tremendous success.

Guests ventured to the Wyoming High Country lodge just east of Lovell, WY for a relaxing get-a-way and trail riding adventure in new 2022 Tracker Off-road ATV's and side by sides. Once settled into the lodge, a herd of elk could be seen grazing the mountain side, a muley doe stood not 50 yards from the campfire, and not another sound of human presence could be heard outside of our group. After a delicious welcome dinner and a full night's rest, we were ready to hit the trails for the following days of off-roading.

We traversed down off-roading trails to beautiful mountaintop overlooks and crossed streams into the forests. We stopped at breathtaking locations for lunch and road the mountain tops back to see incredible views for miles. We toured hidden ice caves near a small creek bottom at the base of a mountain that still had ice in it from the past winter. We also ventured to the edge of the Bighorns to view Wyoming's “Bighorn Canyon”. We were fortunate with the fact that the wildfire smoke was almost non-existent during our exploration as the locals had mentioned it was the clearest few days in well over a month. We stopped at a local stream on the trips back and guests tried their luck catching brook trout with a fly rod. Although they were difficult to catch, they sure were fun to fish for!

After a full day of riding and exploring, it was relaxing to come back to the lodge to a wonderful home cooked meal. Stories and laughter filled the lodge as guests shared memorable stories from throughout the day. Conversations were carried to the fire just outside the lodge as we ate smores for dessert, watched elk cross the pasture only a few hundred yards in front of us, and watched the sun go down through the beautiful Wyoming pines. Getting away from the world and truly just enjoying everyone's company certainly gave everyone a sense of “normal” in this ever changing world we live in. There are not many off-roading adventures you can go to and really get a sense that you're “away” from the crowds, but this is it. An off-road paradise, and an exclusive get away in the Bighorn mountains of Wyoming.
